Stephen Colbert: Dermot Mulroney was too cool for me at Northwestern - Stephen Colbert and Dermot Mulroney attended Northwestern University at the same time in the 1980s. They were not friends, but according to Colbert, they were “friend-adjacent.” They both auditioned for the same college improv show. “One of us got in, and it weren’t me,” Colbert reminded Mulroney Tuesday on “The Late Show.” “So, fantastic. Payback is a (expletive) my friend. ... You were friends with all the cool people.” Colbert went on to become a late-night TV star. Mulroney is a TV and movie star in his own right. Colbert recalled that Mulroney was the first one to get a big break after leaving Northwestern.
